“ My Father was the most honest caring man I have ever known. He was the definition of a good man. He spent his whole life working and giving to others to make them happy. While never asking or receiving anything for himself. My father was a simple but extremely intelligent man. It's unfortunate that I had to learn about his passing a year after his death online. I was not allowed to speak with or see my father in the last few years because of the unstable selfish people around him. Who did not even bother to let me know he was ill or had past. For which I will never forgive them! But I know he knew how much I loved him. So I have no more family. You will be missed father you will always be in my heart and I will always remember the life lessons you taught me. I always tried to treat others as I wished to be treated That wealth and money is not how you judge a man's character but how he treats others. That real riches in life are intangible things like love and kindness to others. That happiness comes from within not from things you can buy. lesson my sibling never could grasp. I hope you find the peace and love in the place you go to that you were never given in your life! He was all I had left of my family in this world. Good bye father I love you more then you will ever know. You were and always will be my hero!

“ I remember when my family 1st got to meet Mr. Ford in 2005. He was very nice and welcoming us to the neighborhood. Then on we grew to feel like they where part of our family. We would listen to Mr. Ford when he would tell us his story's about living in California. And the time went on and my mom passed away in 2017 and they were there for us to talk to. And before 2017 Mr.ford and Mrs. Ford got to meet my son and they fell in love with my son. My son would go help in the yard. MR. Ford you will be missed and loved for ever. I hope you get to see my mom in heaven and if you see her please tell her that we are okay.
