“ I worked with Waymon for many years at Redstone Arsenal. He became Chief of our office and we had an office family that stayed in touch through the years by meeting for lunch once or twice a year when our co-worker Lee Ann came home for a visit. We had many happy office times sharing recipes (Waymon had a collection of cookbooks), growing flowers (Waymon was an expert with plants), birthday celebrations (we made sure Waymon remembered his 50th birthday), sharing talks about our special pets and many other happy work times. When we would gather for lunch, someone would often remember "when". Waymon will be greatly missed. He was a great friend to all of us. May he rest in peace.

“ Waymon was one of the best friends I have ever known. We worked together at Redstone Arsenal. He always encouraged me when I was in college. We stayed in touch when I moved to New Mexico and we talked on the phone almost every Sunday and would meet for lunch with our Redstone family when I was back in Alabama. He started every phone call with "hi, twerp" and ended each one with, "love you." I am truly heartbroken and in tears. I love you, brother. Rest in God's hands.
